FUNERAL SERVICES OF WM. TESAR HELD AT SEXSMITH

The funeral of the late Wm. Tesar, who was drowned near High Prairie on Friday, April 21, was held at the United Church, Sexsmith, on Friday last, the Rev. R. Simons conducting the service.

The church was filled to overflowing, in fact it was so full that many who came to pay their last respects to the deceased, and the casket was covered with many beautiful spray and wreaths, among which was one from the Old Timers Association.

Mr. Joe Tesar, father of the deceased, arrived from Nebraska on the same train as the remains.

Interment took place at Emerson Twp. cemetery, J. B. Oliver of Grande Prairie having charge of the funeral arrangements.

SEVENTY-SECOND BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED FITTINGLY IN ROYAL STYLE

A very enjoyable affair occurred at the country estate of Mr. Robert Wymore last Sunday, which was in the nature of a celebration, the reason being his 72nd birthday anniversary.

A turkey dinner was prepared at Bob's, and those present were Mr. Charles Gathewick, Mr. Hank Weicker and Mr. Chas. Schuerer.

After partaking of the splendid repast, which would have been credited to the best French chef, toasts were the order of the day, the guests being treated from the King down, and to be sure no one was missed, they were invited to go over the top and to a few more as they went along. After everybody had had their share of the Gathewick was called upon to say a few words, and he gave a short talk on the technocracy as applied to the magazine. This was well received, although most of it was not understood by the audience.

However, he got quite a hand, as the guests were in a very good-natured mood. After the applause died down, Mr. Schuerer got to his feet, with a little assistance, and gave a short talk on the manipulation of the press. He stated that if the press was turned on an individual, the man on the street was quite a depth. He thought this was a good thing for the public, as by the time they got to the beer there was not enough left in their heads to do anything but to go to bed.

Mr. Schuerer was so overcome with emotion at this juncture that he had to sit down, and another round of toasts was proposed, which was carried unanimously.

Mr. Weicker was then asked to say a few words, and he gave a very delightful talk on how to work into a man's mind. He stated that in a conversation with the manager of one of the packing plants in Edmonton, who stated that he was the only part of the pig that was a dead loss was the squeal, but that he had finally made it into a pig.

SPRING CLEANING

Now that we are enjoying such nice spring days our thoughts naturally turn to spring cleaning, and soon most of us will be in the throes of our annual house-cleaning. Sometimes we get a very energetic about it that we try to do too much at once—the consequence being that the whole house is in a muddle. Now this is a mistake. It only trays out nerves and makes us think we are not making much headway with the cleaning. Take one room at a time and you will find how much better it is for all the household.

I think men-folk must dread spring cleaning, and if we pause a moment and think what they put up with during this time we can hardly blame them. They very often have to have hurried meals, and when they arrive home in the evening and can't have their favorite chair and smoke, they feel like fish out of water. So let us see to it this year that we have one room in the house where the family can have their usual comfort without the danger of tripping over a tin of paint or the curtain roller.

We all know how things accumulate during the year. Things the family have grown out of are put away and probably forgotten until we start our annual cleaning. So may I ask you, dear readers, if you come across anything you have no further use for to send it to one of our various committees for distribution to those less fortunate than ourselves? I said this is one of them recently, and she replied: "If you only knew the real happiness it gives me to give them a little happiness!" Which is really a great thing, because the more happy we give away the more we have for ourselves! Even if we can't help with material things, yet we can all give a cheery word or a little sympathy to those who are discouraged and who have lost heart in everything. And whether our help is material or spiritual, let us remember those divine words: "Whosoever ye do unto these my brethren, ye do unto me."

WHAT ONE GIRL WORE—

By Betty Brownlee

Thought for Today: "Life's never got you beat until you think it has."

A SIMPLE CREED

You don't get flowers unless you sow the seed.
Until you work and die and put up weeds.
Your garden won't be clear.
Who values pleasure till they've had some pain?
The suburban's glory only follows rain—
Belief comes after fear.
You can't buy knowledge, not the million hat.
For men set gold by dizzing deep for it—
Down in the earth it lies.
You won't win races if you only trot—
You've got to sprint, and sprint a jolly lot.
If you would win a prize,
You can't have friends worth anything unless
You show yourself a friendly soul, I guess.
And stop to have a chat:
And if you take a nasty knock one day
Some good comes to smooth the lump
For life is just like that!

HOME HINTS

If you think there are worms in your house plant soil, water with water in which lime has been mixed. This brings the worms to the surface.

A square of table cloth makes a good rubber shoe and is not as expensive.

If you are sewing new material in, try using a piece of soap for a pin cushion and you will find the pins slip in the material easily.

If cocoa is spilled on dress or linen wash at once in cold water. Warm water sets the stains in.

"Did you know Jones was in love with Daisy?"
"Oh, did he tell you he was?"
"Oh, no. But he's hung her photo next to the photo of his dog!"

Small Daughter: "Oh, mother, come up here quick! There's a man in the nursery kissing nurse."
When mother was halfway upstairs the small voice continued: "Oh, mother, you needn't bother to come. It was only daddy!"

A veterinary surgeon was instructing a farmer as to a suitable method for administering medicine to a horse.

"Simply place this powder in a gas pipe about two feet long, put one end of the pipe well back in the horse's mouth and blow the powder down his throat."

Shortly thereafter the farmer came running into the veterinary's office in a distressed condition.

"What's the matter?" asked the veterinary.

"In dying," cried the farmer. "The horse blew first!"

For those of you who are very, very feminine and still have grown accustomed to the pajama vogue, there are lovely negligees being shown that are also made of wash fabrics. And many of them change to be just as filmy as the most expensive silk and dairy as the most expensive silk and lace creations.

Stashed today is a really adorable pajama outfit of white poplin. It is double-breasted and doesn't miss those big square navy blue bone buttons. The reverse collar is appliqued with stripes of red, navy and light blue. It is short-sleeved for comfort and of course the trousers are very, very full.

The narrow belt starts from the seams at each side of the waist and finishes with a lone buckle at the back.

NEW YORK, April 25.—The United States dollar was slightly firmer today in terms of Canadian exchange. Following announcement that Canada had passed an order in council suspending redemption of Dominion notes in gold.

The Dominion Notes Act, as amended a month ago, authorizes the government in council to suspend redemption in gold whenever it is deemed advisable.

The Wall Street banking circles it was estimated that Canada has between 70 and 75 million dollars of gold against total outstanding Dominion notes amounting to 180,000,000 dollars.
